

Emily Rumble

Plan:

Intro: do improve activity—Orchestra, where audience will choose one word that describes their personal teaching style and then I will “orchestrate” how they will announce their words.

Happy medium: watch video of scenes from popular movies with different teaching styles (Ferris Bueller’s Day off, Dead Poet’s Society, etc.) Then discuss the effective and ineffective aspects of all the short clips. Next we’ll talk about teacher composure and how it can make or break your day, followed by the “decide-first method” where my audience will do that process with me.

Consistency: Ask my audience what ‘consistency’ means to them. Then go over the ComicLife I made where I split it up into 3 sections: meaning, strategies, styles.

Collaborative Teaching and Positioning around the room: Go over Padlet and talk about strategies and how this can be a resource.